Across & Delusional

This Could Have Been a Fucking Email | Puzzle #100 | Blank puzzle

Some letters have no crossing. Spaces are omitted in the grid.

Clues are on page 2. No answers, progress, or highlights are printed.

Across & Delusional

Puzzle #100 | Clues | This Could Have Been a Fucking Email

Across

1. What you and your work bestie spend lunch doing about management. (8)

3. The event described in the calendar as a “seamless product launch.” (8)

4. What your internal translator calls “an exciting unpaid opportunity.” (8)

5. Four-letter curse before “it” when the spreadsheet crashes unsaved. (4)

9. When the deadline, budget, and leadership all shit the bed together. (11)

13. Your private assessment of whoever scheduled Friday’s 4:59 meeting. (7)

14. The married coworkers’ secret that everyone at the office already knows. (6)

15. The four-letter reason you actually care about the company mission. (4)

Down & Delusional

1. What the boss calls “radical honesty” when nobody can answer back. (5, 1, 4)

2. Colleague whose tongue practically polishes the manager’s shoes. (10)

3. Your workload doubled, your pay didn’t, and now you’re royally… (7)

6. Your reward for being the only competent bastard on the team. (4, 4)

7. Technical term for agreeing with the boss until promotion season. (10)

8. Two-word response you wisely delete before replying to a weekend work request. (4, 4)

10. Document you update immediately after the “exciting restructuring” announcement. (6)

11. Three-letter text translation of “Could you clarify that decision?” (3)

12. Five-letter state that explains your wildly inappropriate crush on the IT guy. (5)